

NEWS RELEASE

Immediate Release

Contact: Andrew Simonelli
Phone: 202.785.7872
Email: simonelli@actuary.org

American Academy of Actuaries Announces Election of New Regular Directors

WASHINGTON – 26 Oct. 2009 – The American Academy of Actuaries announced that its members elected four new regular directors today at its annual meeting in Boston. The new regular directors will serve on the organization’s board of directors.

Mary D. Miller, a property/casualty actuary with the Financial Regulation Division of the Ohio Department of Insurance, David Neve, the vice president of corporate valuation for Aviva USA in Des Moines, Iowa, and Tom Wildsmith, a consulting actuary with the Hay Group in Arlington, Va., were elected to three-year terms.

Ron Gebhardtshauer, who is the faculty-in-charge of the Actuarial Science Program at the Pennsylvania State University, was elected to serve a one-year term that was vacated by Art Panighetti on Oct. 20 when he was elected by the American Academy of Actuaries board of directors as the new vice president of its Life Practice Council.

The terms for all new regular directors began at the close of the American Academy of Actuaries Annual Meeting. For more information or digital photographs, contact Andrew Simonelli, assistant director of communications for the American Academy of Actuaries, at 202.785.7872. For more information on the American Academy of Actuaries, please visit: www.actuary.org.

###

The American Academy of Actuaries is a 16,000-member professional association whose mission is to serve the public on behalf of the U.S. actuarial profession. The Academy assists public policymakers on all levels by providing leadership, objective expertise, and actuarial advice on risk and financial security issues. The Academy also sets qualification, practice, and professionalism standards for actuaries in the United States.