

iv. Letter from CUSP on the Topic of U.S. Representation in International Matters
(1/31/07)

Letter from Council of U.S. Presidents (CUSP) on the Topic of U.S. Representation in International Matters

In recognition of:

- the actuarial profession's commitment to the public, and
- our mutual desire to represent the interests of the U.S. actuarial profession efficiently and effectively in international matters.

the undersigned leaders of the U.S.-based actuarial associations agree to the following:

- It is important to coordinate and communicate across all organizations on international matters.
- With respect to most international matters, the U.S. actuarial profession should have a cohesive and effective voice.
- The American Academy of Actuaries should coordinate these collaborative efforts.
